HOME SEEKERS MAKE INQUIRIES

COOPER TELLS OF WORK ACCOMPLISHED

Large Amount of Promotion Literature is Distributed Throughout the Antipodes—Tourists on the Way.

"The volume of inquiries from persons on the mainland who are looking towards Hawaii as a place to visit or to make a home, continues to increase by every mail. Anyone who has any doubt that the Hawaii Promotion Committee is getting to be pretty widely known, could easily be convinced of his error if he would take the trouble to run through the pile of letters reaching us by any mail steamer. They come from every section of the mainland, and from almost every country in the world, and with the exception of a very small per cent, come properly addressed, indicating that the writers have, in some way, learned of the existence of our organization.

"During the past week, we have received the usual lot of inquiries from tourists who are contemplating spending some time here. We also have an average lot of requests for information concerning real estate, and the opportunities offered by Hawaii for home making. Besides this class of inquiries, we are asked for advice relative to coming here by a number of teachers, two civil engineers, a mechanical engineer, an attorney, a physician, a saw-mill man, an expert Turkish bath masseur, a taxicab man, and a printing and paper firm. A firm of exporters from British Columbia also wants information concerning the chances for finding a market for lime and building materials in the islands.

"We have an increasing number of inquiries from Australia and New Zealand, showing that Hawaii's fame is becoming well known in the Antipodes. We have definite information to the effect that half a dozen or more persons with whom we have been in correspondence will arrive here during January and February for extended visits. This is very different from even so short a time as a year ago, when our correspondence from the South was confined almost exclusively to tourists and shipping agencies. The Purser on the 'Makura,' during her visit here last week, complained that the supply of folders we had been supplying his ship, had become entirely inadequate to supply the demand made on him by his passengers. Needless to inform you that this complaint was gladly remedied.

"By the 'Makura' we also renewed our supply of printed matter for some fifteen different tourist bureaus in Australia and New Zealand, besides sending a large number of letters and folders to individuals who had recently written us. Mainland Standing.

"That The Hawaii Promotion Committee is well known and has a high standing in the opinion of similar organization on the mainland, is evidenced by the following letter from Mr. Woodworth Clum, Secretary of the Rochester (N. Y.) Chamber of Commerce, and President of the National Association of Commercial Executives, written to Mr. Wood:

"For five or six years I have been receiving correspondence and interesting data from you. First, when I was Secretary at Washington, D. C., next at Pittsburgh, and finally here. Now it gives me pleasure, as the recently elected President of the National Association of Commercial Executives to welcome you to our fold, and to say to you that while all along I have suspected your broad public spirit, I have now conclusive proof of it in finding your name as a paid member of this organization. If you have any suggestions I would like to get them and if at any time there is any cause or problem concerning which you want light, send the query to me and I will put it up to our boys to do the best they can in answering it.

"We have a very kind offer, W. D. Longyear, Cashier and Secretary of the Security Savings Bank, of Los Angeles, who has pleasant recollections of a visit to Hawaii, to display our literature in the newly established public information bureau in his bank. This is a unique feature in banking business, and according to newspaper notices, it has been established on an extensive scale, and is in charge of an experienced Secretary. The location and importance of the bank should make the new bureau a very efficient one.

"Mrs. Headlee, our Los Angeles representative, reports conditions extremely encouraging. She is being kept extremely busy and says that the tourist season this year has been continuous, and the largest in the history of the city. We shall draw our proportion of this crowd, provided they can find steamship accommodations."
